

2 TRAINS GO TO GUARD ONE TRAIN

A Passenger Train Leaves Juarez With Troop Trains Ahead and Behind.

With Villista bandits reported heading for Laguna on the main line of the Mexican Central railway, two military escort trains were sent out Thursday from Juarez, guarding a passenger train southbound for Chihuahua city. One hundred foot soldiers under Capt. Col. Manuel Medina rode on the advance guard train, feeling the way ahead. Five hundred Mexicans and three American soldiers followed in the passenger train, escorted by a detachment of troops in charge of a machine gun mounted on the roof of the rear car.

Finally, keeping the passenger train in sight all the journey, the rear guard of the military escort and the passenger train, escorted by a detachment of troops, left Juarez at 10 o'clock, bringing four Americans in the passenger car, with horses and men held in readiness to detain and enact a flanking movement in case of attack on the first (troop) train by bandits.

To Stop Over Night. The trains were scheduled to stop over night at Mochis, in order to make the trip past Laguna station and through the hilly neighborhood below it in daylight tomorrow.

Orders were given to halt all along the route, so that all three trains might after a consolidated protection for each other. Right at way was Wednesday night ordered all the way to Chihuahua city for this specialty escorted southbound train out of Juarez.

The foreigners going to Chihuahua city Thursday were C. H. Newell, an American mining engineer; A. L. Davidson, an Englishman; and Dr. Knopf, a German. All had secured special permission from Gen. Gabriel Davila to carry rifles and pistols, and took plenty of ammunition.

The machine gun with its crew was stationed on the after section of the last car of the passenger train, the gun trained to the west. Attack, if such came, would come only from that direction, it was stated. The Laguna country is hilly on the west, with shelter for an assault offered in the east, the ground is flat and unprotected. Villa held on the Chihuahua train near Laguna from the west side, it was declared.

Arrangements had been completed and hurried, according to Capt. Medina, in command of the last car, to train, to detain and enact a flanking movement if attack on the first two trains is tried. The last train would back up out of sight, and the two military trains, and a cavalry sweep to the rear of the Villista forces would follow, he stated.

VILLA LOCATED: PART OF HIS BAND DRIVEN OFF IN FIGHT
Gen. Bertand, pursuing Villista bandits in western Chihuahua, with Matamoros as his base, reported Wednesday night to Gen. Gabriel Davila in Juarez, that he believed Villista was located between Santa Ana and Las Cruces, southwest of the San Buenaventura valley.

Bertand also reported that he had driven Villista attackers from San Juan, near the Hacienda ranch of the Hearst interests, after they had killed five Mexican defenders at the place and burned the station. Villista's forces, numbering some 200 men, are on the bandits' trail, he wired.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair
Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will ruin your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash the scalp with soap, or to get rid of dandruff by using any of the old-fashioned remedies. You must get rid of it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of Cornell Entomology Expert's Dandruff Remedy, apply it at night, when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely destroy and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid corn at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. Adv.

Thin Folks Who Want to Get Fat
Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.
"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to lay a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of malnutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are, when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements slip to the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nature process must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can be properly done by administering a carefully balanced diet, supplemented by a powerful laxative. Such is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood. Its rapid effect has been in many cases reported. Remarkable reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by A. C. Evans and other druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back. Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired. AMERICAN KILLS FIVE BANDITS

Guy Johnson, Murdered in Mexico, Got His Men Before They Got Him.

Confirmation of the murder of Guy Johnson in the hills between Minera and Chihuahua was brought to the border Wednesday night by an American who saw his dead body lying stripped in the timber country in which he was shot down after a fight with brigands, five of whom he killed before they "got him."

Harry Williams, recently reported shot down by bandits in the western Chihuahua country, was reported to have safely arrived in Chihuahua city. Arriving reaching the border Wednesday night brought this authentic statement.

A train up from Chihuahua city arrived in Juarez Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, bringing four Americans in the passenger car, with horses and men held in readiness to detain and enact a flanking movement in case of attack on the first (troop) train by bandits.

Conditions were quiet in Magistrate's office, according to the report brought to the border by these arrivals, although a strong undercurrent of uneasiness was evident in both places. Americans are getting to the point where they all want to come out, but are apprehensive of the dangers of travel through the Chihuahua country.

Bandits still lurk through the hilly country in all parts of Chihuahua, and all arrivals stand, and protection, with a thing unknown outside of the garrisoned centers.

Johnson, not known to stay on the ranch and decided to head for the Ocampo country, pulling out in the latter part of December on horseback. They got him in the hills. There is some timber there, and he was well armed, so there was considerable shooting.

When I found his body he was partly stripped, lying in a clump of bushes, which he had made his last stand.

"Guy Johnson was a fighter, and the only reason they got him, I believe, was his running short of ammunition. He must have peppered away at his assailants with such effect that they were afraid to close in on him, for we found the five bodies of the men he had killed a long way from where Johnson had finally been killed."

And Johnson was literally surrounded by empty rifle and revolver shells, showing that he had stood his ground a long time, letting go with his firearms every minute. He sure died game, and fighting.

"His body still lies out there in the hills, on the way from the Acik ranch below Minera to the Hacienda ranch of the Hearst interests, after they had killed five Mexican defenders at the place and burned the station. Villista's forces, numbering some 200 men, are on the bandits' trail, he wired."

BANDITS ATTACK FAMILIES OF MEXICAN RANCHMEN
Mail advices from Chihuahua city tell of revolting assaults upon the families of Mexican ranchmen along the Durango and Pinar del Rio railroad by a band of so-called Villista bandits which included, was said, those who participated in the massacre of Americans at Santa Ysabel.

TWO AMERICANS LEAVE THEIR CHIHUAHUA PROPERTY
Presidio, Texas, Feb. 10.—Declaring that guarantee of safety could not be furnished by Carranza authorities, Dr. Charles Orr and H. Smyth, Americans, arrived here Wednesday after a cross country trip to the state capital, Chihuahua city. They declared the country around Chihuahua city is infested with bandits and that murder and pillage are frequent.

CORNELL ENTOMOLOGICAL EXPERT AND AUTHOR VISITS EL PASO
Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Cornsack, who are among the oldest members of the faculty of Cornell university, left for El Paso Wednesday night, after spending two days in El Paso as guests of Mrs. M. S. Russell.

While here they had an opportunity to meet informally a number of their old Cornell friends, and to make first hand observations of conditions along the border.

Prof. Cornsack is one of the recognized authorities on entomology and his published works, for which Mrs. Cornsack has been the energetic, hold a very high place in literature of natural science.

CURIOSITY CAUSES FALL; YOUTH TOUCHES LIVE WIRE
Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 10.—Curiosity regarding the electrical construction methods of the reclamation service caused Francis Patton, 18 years old, to climb to the top of a transmission line tower at the corner of city, he touched a wire and fell to the ground, 20 feet below, with his clothes in flames. Doctors worked over him several hours before he regained consciousness. He has a good chance for recovery.

S. P. AGENTS IN CITY, SURPRISED

W. E. Barnes Here With a Party of Officials Who Had Never Seen City.

The Southern Pacific, proud of its record of safety, now appears to develop a corps of ticket men excelling in science.

Charles S. Fox, passenger traffic manager, plans to make every ticket agent an experienced traveler, so that they may all be equipped with actual personal experience to give the traveling public correct information concerning every detail of railroad service, various points of interest, the most advantageous routes, etc.

The Southern Pacific is detaching from the service at regular intervals small groups of ticket men, giving them free educational trips over the entire system and a complete tour of the United States. The third group to leave from the capital and below, two in El Paso Thursday morning, numbering five, in charge of W. E. Barnes, one of the best equipped men in the service.

Mr. Barnes is a consistent booster of the Southwest. He and his party are now in El Paso and will leave for Mexico City, the party consisting of James R. Fowler, ticket agent at San Francisco; H. S. Porter, city ticket agent, Sacramento; E. C. Potter, city passenger agent at Los Angeles; O. Thompson, city ticket agent at Seattle; and Charles E. Tyler, inter-line ticket agent at Los Angeles, an unusually bright set of men.

City passenger agent J. E. Monroe, of El Paso, showed them about El Paso. Not one of these men had ever visited El Paso before, and they all expressed amazement at the wonderful development of the industrial resources of El Paso and can be depended upon to tell the world of the city's growth and attractions.

The Southern Pacific is one of the first railroads of this country to realize the educational value of travel for its employees, and Mr. Fox has entered the project with enthusiasm and is confident of the most satisfactory results.

The party here today are especially selected to represent the company on a schedule carefully arranged. No expense is spared and the party is personally conducted by experienced and educated men.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS
"WIGWAM"—REGENERATION.
The Wigwam today offers "Regeneration," the dramatic story of the life of Owen Kildare, "The Bowery Kipling." This is a real entertainment for one day only. The picture was taken from the book written by Kildare, "My Mamie Rose," and from his play, "Regeneration," which was produced at New York City.

It is a story of the slums of New York, and deals almost entirely with underworld characters, but it is a story as good as any ever told. It is the real life story of Kildare, who was a hanger on McGurk's "Suicide Club" in the Bowery, and who met Marie Deering, the heroine of his book, "My Mamie Rose." Through her efforts he quit the job of hanger on in this notorious resort and became a writer while he learned to read and write.

"THE RANSOM"
"The Ransom" is a story of the stage and therefore draws upon a source of dramatic material which is increasingly attractive. It is also a picture with a "munch." The plot takes a mother from her home in the city to the slums of city life, where she attempts to become an actress. She is a failure, and taking the line of least resistance, she becomes a prostitute. She is a man. Years after her daughter comes to the city and is engaged as an actress by the man who has deceived the mother. When the theatrical manager is told of the daughter's fall, he is determined to lead the daughter into evil ways, the mother "ransoms" her by killing him. Julia Dean plays a sincere portrayal of the mother and her fall is a capital value in the role of the daughter. A "ringside" show, views of a theater within and without and a dice scene, stand out as scenes of great interest and entertainment. "The Ransom" will be shown again today at the Alhambra. CONCERT IS POSTPONED.
The concert of the Highland Park orchestra, which was set for February 10, has been postponed to a later date on account of sickness among the membership of the organization, to such an extent as to seriously interfere with the rehearsals.

The orchestra has been greatly strengthened recently by the addition of Arthur C. Newton a violinist from Ohio and Mrs. J. E. Chambers, accompanist, formerly of Chicago. Mr. Newton will be one of the soloists in the coming concert.

HELEN WARE AT THE BIJOU.
An appealing and spectacular production of Frances Hodgson Burnett's book, "That Lass-Of-Glowrie," will be shown at the Bijou today and tomorrow. Helen Ware, the celebrated Broadway star, plays the lead. Miss Ware is a finished actress and the manner in which she has adapted herself to the role of Joan Lowrie is worth while seeing. The picture is said by critics to be as good as "The Spoilers." Advertisement.

EUGENE FOX MAY GET PROMOTION

Local Man May Get Place Vacated By A. N. Brown's Death; Funeral Sunday.

Eugene Fox, assistant general manager for the El Paso & Southwestern railroad, will probably be promoted to the place vacated by the death of A. N. Brown in Los Angeles Wednesday night. No announcement has been made of the promotion to Mr. Brown but local railroad men declare that it is highly probable that Mr. Fox will be promoted to Mr. Brown's position. It is also said that Garrison King, general manager of the El Paso & Southwestern, will succeed Mr. Fox as assistant general traffic manager.

Funeral.
Funeral services for Mr. Brown will be held here Sunday afternoon and will be in charge of the Masonic lodge in which he belonged. The body will arrive Friday afternoon from Los Angeles and will be accompanied by the widow and Eugene Fox, who was in Los Angeles at the time of Mr. Brown's death. The exact time of arrival has not been announced. The body of the train and will escort it to the undertaking parlors. Mr. Brown was a member of the directors.

MASKED WOMAN KIDNAPED IN CAR
A red sweater carrying her to the car. Then the car jumped forward.

A man and woman standing within three feet of the kidnapping were so startled that they could not move. Groups of men standing on the foot of the building corner and on the San Antonio plaza rushed across to the scene of the kidnapping. Policemen Phoenix and Robertson were on a corner of the First National bank building and so sudden was the attack upon the woman that they did not hear of the kidnapping until men rushed to an Antonio street with the information.

Is Found in Savoy Hotel.
Thursday morning the woman with the black mask, who had been kidnapped, was found in a room at the Savoy Hotel on Stanton and Overland streets. She stated to the detective and a Herald reporter that she had just left the Western Union building where she had gone for a message that she had been expecting, and was returning to her room at the Sheldon, when a small man stepped in front of her and began speaking in Spanish and snatching at the telephone.

"I drew back," she said, and pushed the telephone into my hand. Then a second man grabbed me, picked me up, and the next minute I was in the automobile among four or five men, who were speaking Spanish. I screamed the whole time, when a handkerchief saturated with something was placed over my face, and then I lost consciousness."

Appears in Thin Tailored Suit.
The woman of the black mask had eaten, a few minutes prior to the kidnapping, at the Campbell restaurant on San Antonio street, and had excited not a little curiosity.

A little earlier in the afternoon she visited Everybody's store and bought a new suit and hat, paying cash for them. Quite a crowd collected there also.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"
Spend 25 cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glitters with beauty and is radiated with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff, you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive secret robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces the hair-roots fall out, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or only a 25-cent bottle of Knowledge's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter, you will find it will save ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you can have it. Knowledge's Danderine. It eventually—why not now?—Adv.

MOUNTED OFFICER IN AUTO HITS JITNE AND FLORIST RIG

A Cadillac car, driven by C. M. Larchfield, a mounted officer, crashed into jitney bus No. 7 at the West avenue stand on Thursday at 12 o'clock. According to L. O. Berthoud, the tourist car was coming along Mills street, west bound, at a good speed. A horse and buggy, belonging to C. H. Kille, happened to be crossing Mills street at West avenue and, in avoiding the car, the automobile swerved into the curb of the river. The fender of the big Cadillac crashed into the radiator of the Ford, pinning it and also damaging one of the lamps. The fender of the Cadillac was bent, but the car received no other damage. Larchfield said he would pay the damages to the jitney and the buggy.

Transforms Complexion; Wins Social Favors

"I had been unable to transform my complexion so quickly, so completely, by an unique process I had just learned of, I have never before attained such results. A certain social favorite, a picture at weddings at the great event, told me in Los Angeles that she was using 'Camille' and she said, 'When I looked myself in the mirror after a night's troubled sleep, I saw I was becoming more and more like you. I could not take, and attend the ball, the long rest my physician advised. A friend suggested I use a new cosmetic. The was back after the old skin so gradually, there was no discomfort. Now I am the face, bright, and glowing with the youthful glow and expression.'"

The wavy lines and wrinkles which had become quite numerous, I removed very easily by simply bathing my face every morning in a warm solution of 'Camille' in a half pint of witch hazel. You see the result—my skin is smooth and firm, and I am a social favorite. —Alison in Town Talk—Adv.

COMING!

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG
"Camille"

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG, whose interpretation of the role of "Trilby" recently seen at the Alhambra, placed her ahead of all other emotional picture actresses, as far as El Paso is concerned, is going one better in the forthcoming production of "Camille," at the Alhambra Saturday and Sunday. This, of course, is based upon Alexandre Dumas' great French play, "The Lady With the Camellias." This play has given the greatest actresses of two generations the opportunity of appearing in a spectacular role, bringing out all of the varied emotions which can be shown on the stage.

"Women are strange," Miss Young has a splendid character in that of Camille, and does it to the fullest justice. Admirably the finest and most expressive actress now before the motion picture camera, she rises to the great opportunities which this character gives her.

Paul Capellani, late of the Comedie Francaise, and who played Armand to Sarah Bernhardt's "Camille," plays the part of Armand.

The Alhambra has been fortunate in securing "Camille" for two days—Saturday and Sunday. Prof. Klingman will present a special music for both matinees and evenings. There will be no advance in prices.
